SPECIAL TRADE STATISTICS IN CURRENT MONTHLY.

The department desires to direct the attention of Canadian importers, exporters and manufacturers to the trade figures to be found under "General Commercial Information" relative to the trade of the Bahamas, (p. 1483), Barbados, (p. 1490), British Guiana, (p. 1499), Grenada, (p. 1510), and New Zealand, (p. 1517). The trade figures in question cover in each case the value of the imports and exports, by countries, for at least five years ; the value of the principal lines of goods imported and exported for the latest available three years ; and the value of the said goods imported from the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada, as also the exports thereto.

It will be observed from a study of the import figures for the colonies referred to above that the imports from the United States are exceedingly large, and similar in character to those that Canada has for export. In some instances the imports from Canada exceed those from the United States, but as a rule the imports from the United States are much in excess of those from Canada.

The British preferential tariff of New Zealand has proved a great benefit to Canadian manufacturers and exports in the extension of Canadian trade with that colony. It is only reasonable to expect, therefore, as a result of the tariff concessions granted to Canada by certain of the British West India Colonies, that Canada should secure a large portion of the vast trade now carried on between the United States and the British West India Colonies.

F. C. T. O'HARA,
Deputy Minister.

FOREIGN TRADE REPORTS.

In this issue will be found special reports upon the trade of Austria-Hungary, British India, the British West India Colonies, Fiji, Netherlands, Philippine Islands, Switzerland and Trinidad. All these are based upon the latest official statistics of the several countries.

Austria–Hungary.

The report on the trade of Austria-Hungary shows a marked expansion of foreign commerce from 1911 to 1912. Imports from Canada show continued increase, but exports to Canada declined slightly. The importation from Canada of cereals and pulse, flour and products of flour showed a great decrease, as did also that of "machines apparatus", &c., but these were more than counterbalanced by a large increase under the item "minerals". Exports to Canada of textile piece-goods and yarns decreased, but there were increases under the items of "clothing", "leather", "glass" and "earthenware".

British India.

The volume of the trade of British India increases every year. The bulk of added imports is from the United Kingdom, and the largest increase in exports is to that country. Exports to the United States increased more than 20%. Imports from Canada are trifling. Exports to Canada continue to increase, the two important items being jute gunny-cloth and black tea.

British West Indies.

The statement on pages 2250 and 2251 is of interest in that it summarizes the trade of the British West India Colonies, considering them in two groups, viz,—those which are parties to the trade agreement with Canada and those which are not in the arrangement. The period covered does not, however, lie wholly within the term of the agreement, consequently the statement cannot be considered as a means of measuring its effect.

Fiji.

Importations of Canadian flour and fish into Fiji are increasing, while the lumber trade has declined somewhat. Exports of sugar to Canada recovered from the decline of 1911 and showed a large proportionate increase for 1912.

Netherlands.

Increased Canadian imports into the Netherlands are made up of grain and grain products,—principally of wheat. Eggs and lard declined. Exports of iron products to Canada showed instability and a material decrease. The chief increased exports were chemicals, glass and spirits. Totals show large increases of trade both ways between Canada and the Netherlands.

Philippine Islands.

Canadian breadstuffs were more largely imported into the Philippines, but the exports of manilla hemp to Canada direct practically ceased. The exchange of commodities is small.

Switzerland.

Swiss returns show steadily developing trade with Canada, there being constant increases from year to year in both imports and exports. Wheat is the product of paramount importance among imports from Canada, while exports thereto are cocoa products, cotton ribbons and lace, silk manufactures, watches and clocks.

Trinidad.

Trade between Trinidad and Canada shows slight increased development. Canadian lumber was imported in increased amount, but flour and fish lost ground. Unspecified breadstuffs made some gain. In exports to Canada there was an increases in cocoanuts and sugar, but decreases in cocoa and molasses.

F. C. T. O'HARA,
Deputy Minister.

FOREIGN TRADE REPORTS.

The reports of the trade of foreign countries included in this number, are those on the trade of Italy, for the calendar years 1908 to 1912; Newfoundland for the years ended June 30, 1908 to 1913; and St. Lucia, for the calendar years 1908 to 1912.

Trade of Italy.

The volume of the foreign commerce of Italy increases steadily. The interchange with Canada shows a most marked advance. Imports from Canada were one-third greater in 1912 than in 1911 and exports to Canada were almost three times as great as before. The great article of import from Canada is dried fish. The amount received was much larger in 1912 than in 1911 and a considerable advance over 1910, which was formerly the record year in this trade. Italy again imported a considerable amount of Canadian wheat. This importation is very irregular. Canadian asbestos, agricultural implements and lumber were all received in increasing quantities. In the matter of exports to Canada, there is an enormous increase in the amount of "wheat paste". Other largely increased exports were wines, oranges, pickled fruits and vegetables, preserved tomatoes, flax yarn, leather gloves, silk manufactures, hats and insulated electric wire. Decreases are noticable in the cases of olive oil, tanned hides and scientific instruments.

Trade of Newfoundland.

The trade of Newfoundland shows steady increase each year from 1909 to 1913, and the interchange of goods between the Island and other parts of the Empire gains more rapidly than the trade with foreign countries. The United States leads in volume of imports furnished, with Canada a close second and the United Kingdom a good third. The British West Indies hold the next position. The United Kingdom is Newfoundland's best buying customer, with Brazil second and Canada third.

Articles imported from Canada in increasing volume include oats, coal, hay, hides, mining machinery, motor engines, typewriters, sewing and knitting machines, molasses, oilcake and meal, cheese, salted beef, tea and lumber. Decreased imports are cattle and horses, flour, apples, butter, fresh meats and potatoes. Newfoundland sends Canada dried codfish in ever-increasing quantities and the exports of iron ore to the Dominion are also much greater than ever before. Decreases are shown in a number of minor items of fish and in fish oil.

Trade of St. Lucia.

The volume of the trade of St. Lucia is on the up-grade. Imports from the United Kingdom are still decreasing, as they have since 1908; while imports from the States, which increased from 1909 to 1911, receded somewhat in 1912. The United Kingdom continues to be by far the best purchasing customer, taking about three-quarters of the total exports. Imports from Canada show a small increase and the trade gives greater evidence of stability than in the past. Exports to Canada again decreased. The large item of import from Canada is salt fish and six-sevenths of the export to Canada is sugar.

F. C. T. O'HARA,
Deputy Minister.
